

STUDENT STANDARDS FRAMEWORK

University-wide standards

All students studying at WSU are expected to maintain certain standards of Conduct and Performance throughout their enrolment in any WSU program. Supports are available to assist students who are struggling to achieve Performance standards.

Program-specific standards

Many programs have their own additional standards which students must also maintain throughout their enrolment: Inherent Requirements (IRs) and Special Requirements (SRs).

IRs/SRs are determined by Schools. They are most often applied to programs that require students to act in line with profession-specific guidelines, especially where the student may be engaging with the public through placements.

Program-specific standards
 May include standards of conduct, compliance, knowledge, performance, or capacity. For example, complying with safe dress codes or professional ethical guidelines, or maintaining the knowledge and capacity required to carry out specific tasks or use specific equipment.
